MUSINGS + MESSAGES

👤 Msgr. John Kasza, Moderator ✉ frjohn@stol.church

I find today's Gospel quite fascinating; we see a different side of Jesus. He doesn't readily attend to the woman's request. In fact, he is quite belittling (or even snarky), but he does engage her. Why did he do this? Was Jesus having a bad day? Was he angry?

The point is not so much that Jesus was dismissive as it is that the woman was persistent. She didn't give up. She plead her case. Some would say she even stood up to Jesus. The short story is Jesus was not ready to minister to those who were not Jewish. His time had not yet come. However, in both Isaiah and Paul, it is clear that God calls the Gentiles as much as the Jewish people. When the Canaanite woman presses the issue, Jesus gives in because he knows the Gospel is for everyone.

Connecting Point

👤 Matt Kush, FOP Director of Engagement 📧 mattt@stol.church

▶ How can I be an agent of unity?

In this weekend's Gospel, Jesus meets a Canaanite woman who begs him to heal her daughter. At first, Jesus explains that his mission is to save only the house of Israel, but the great faith of the woman overcomes cultural boundaries. Faith transcends all cultures, making the foreign familiar, distances close, and the exclusive inclusive. Our call is to live our Catholic faith with openness, and to bring all people, with respect and without judgment, to be agents of unity in Jesus.

Sitting at the front of the church and looking out at the congregation during Mass is such a joy for me. I see people of all ages, racial and ethnic backgrounds, and a rainbow of diversity. We live in a time that has become increasingly divided, fueled by biased media personalities and political leaders. Yet, we can cast that aside and come together in church because we are all a family in Christ.

This broad spectrum of diversity and inclusion is found even moreso at our 5:30 "Sunday Night Mass," which is why it is my favorite Mass. I see more unfamiliar faces (i.e., probably not all parishioners) and more diversity. I see people attending in shorts and t-shirts (which is how I prefer to dress) and coming just as they are, which is how Jesus calls us to his table. All of this creates a beautiful energy at this Mass, which is somehow different and even more uplifting. Even after having a full weekend of singing and playing at Masses, the energy of the 5:30 Mass is still truly palpable and invigorating for me.

Embracing inclusivity, and therefore unity, in the Church embodies its core values of love and compassion, while also fostering a stronger, harmonious community. Inclusivity nurtures belonging, allowing for deeper connections and meaningful relationships that provide for spiritual growth. By exemplifying unity, the Church also serves as an example of what creating a more interconnected and compassionate world would look like. Let's actively embrace inclusivity in our Church family and beyond, ensuring that everyone feels truly valued and accepted, and together, we will cultivate a more vibrant and harmonious world.

Last week, we shared the importance of being a Catechist, as well as the great need we have for volunteers to help our children grow in their faith here at St. Therese. Please look over the different programs below and pray about how you might be able to help our parish children.

time and time again that the Word of God is for everyone (par todos). The Gospel is inclusive—not exclusive. Ministry is to be extended to all people, not just the ones we know or like. When people demonstrate true faith in the Lord, we should do everything to enliven that desire. We are invited to fan the flames of faith, and not to quench them out.

This week, find ways to encourage people in their spiritual journeys.

Develop strategies for yourself that will draw people closer to the Lord.

Also this week, we have the mission appeal. Please be as generous as you are able.

Rite/Order of Christian Initiation for Adults

Do you know someone interested in taking the next steps on their faith journey or someone who wants to become Catholic? Consider this their invitation to start thinking about receiving the Sacraments.

My name is John Kovacik, and I'm blessed to be the coordinator of this process. I had my calling to the Church in 2012, and, at the Easter Vigil in 2013, I was baptized, confirmed, and received the Eucharist for the first time. My life has never been the same. The Lord has blessed me in so many ways in such a short time.

Each person's faith journey is their own, and it is our privilege to help them all along the way. I pray you will consider joining us in September.

Rejoice with me, for I have found my sheep that was lost.

Mt 15:6

My wife and I were married by Father Ron at St. Isidore in 2014. We've been married for nine years and have two daughters. Both of our daughters were baptized at St. Isidore. Our oldest daughter began Catechism in the fall of 2022, and that's what inspired me to join the RCIA Program. My wife was my sponsor and I chose Isidore as my confirmation name. It was a blessing to receive the sacraments of Baptism, Confirmation, and Holy Communion at the Easter Vigil in front of my family.

What Is a Holy Moment?

A holy moment can be defined as "a single instant in which we open ourselves to God." We can make ourselves available to Him by setting aside personal preferences and self-interests. For just one moment, we can do what we prayerfully believe God is calling us to do.

We all make several decisions every day; some may be easy, but others can be harder to make and have major consequences. Whenever we are faced with a difficult choice, it is best to consult God first, and then ask our future selves. There was a popular bracelet many people wore a few years ago that said WWJD (What Would Jesus Do?). This is a very good guide.

If we make holy moments a practiced routine, we will be happier, and those around us will be happier, too.

► Walking the Path

Discipleship Formation | 👤 Peggy Casing, D.F. Director 📧 peggyc@stol.church

I'm taking a break from my usual article topics in order to share a bit about our upcoming adult formation opportunities.

On Thursday evenings, beginning on September 21, 2023, and concluding in mid-May, we will be hosting Catholic Biblical School of Michigan (CBSM), from 7-9 PM. The theme of this study is "Encounter Jesus and Join His Mission." This powerful, live teaching from Tom Shaheen, MA, includes an unpacking of the Gospels, Acts, and Paul's Letters, including their importance to our lives today. CBSM studies are a bit more serious than a traditional parish study, but not to the level of a college course. That niche might be just the right place for you! Know that there is also a fully online option that can be completed anytime. Find out more and sign up by Sept 6th at cbsmich.org, or use this QR Code.

Next, On Tuesday mornings from 9:30-11 AM, in honor of the current "Eucharistic Revival," we will be offering a study from the Augustine Institute's "Lectio" series entitled "Eucharist: Discovering the Mass in the Bible." In this study, acclaimed author and teacher Dr. Brant Pitre digs down to the biblical roots of the Eucharist, through its foreshadowing in the miraculous events of the Old Testament, the Gospels, and Apostolic teaching. Here we discuss "The Lamb of God," "The Bread of Life," and "The Body and the Blood of Christ," which are all phrases we know from the Mass. But, do we understand what they mean in the greater and deeper context of Scripture and Church teaching? We'll discover firsthand how Christ's Body and Blood are integral and wondrous parts of God's plan for our salvation. This 10-session study will begin on Tuesday, Sept 19, 2023. The cost for this great study is just $10! To register, go to stol.church/eucharist-bible-study/, or visit the events section on our homepage, or call me, Peggy Casing, at (586) 254-4433 X308.

Also, please consider joining us for our ongoing study of The Catechism of the Catholic Church, using Fr. Mike Schmitz's podcast "The Catechism in a Year." After listening to his podcasts, we gather to discuss the content of the most recent episodes and the Catechism itself, watch related videos, and share in lighthearted, yet comprehensive, conversation about the faith. This is a good opportunity to learn about the teachings of the Church in a safe space where all questions are honored. We meet on the second and fourth Wednesday evenings (6:30 PM), and Thursday mornings (9:30 AM), of each month. Choose the evening session, the daytime session, or both. This study is already underway, but you can call me for more information and join at any time. I promise each session can stand on its own, so you won't feel lost. These offerings will continue until early January.

Finally, we will also be conducting a study of Fr. Albert Haase's book, Catching Fire Becoming Flame, as an evening offering. This is the same study that we conducted during the day, earlier this year, but we are offering it again because we wanted to be able to provide this powerful study for those who work during the day. I think this is one of the most foundational and impactful studies I have ever offered. More information will be forthcoming.

Volunteers Needed

We are still in need of volunteers to help with MCREST week at St. Isidore. Please consider volunteering to help make this a success. We've made signing up easy by going to our website: stisidore.church/mcrest.

► Ulcerative Colitis

Health Ministry | 👤 Marilyn Cito, Parish Nurse ✉ marilync@stol.church

For the third time in recent months, a friend or family member told me they have a loved one who has ulcerative colitis. Although I did not think this disease was very common, it is estimated about a million Americans are living with ulcerative colitis, making it the most common form of inflammatory bowel disease. Ulcerative colitis is a disease that causes inflammation and ulcers (sores) in the digestive tract. It affects the innermost lining of the large intestine (colon) and rectum. The exact cause of this disease is unknown. It was previously thought diet and stress caused the disease, but although these may aggravate the disease, researchers now believe it is the result of an overactive immune system that mistakenly attacks your body, causing inflammation and tissue damage. It is also thought heredity may play a part in the disease.

Ulcerative colitis affects both men and women equally, but risk factors include age (often between 15-30 years of age, or over 60), race (Ashkenazi Jewish), eating a high-fat diet, having a close relative with the disease, and use of nonsteroidal, anti-inflammatory drugs, like Advil or Motrin.

Early symptoms may include diarrhea, abdominal cramping, tiredness, nausea, weight loss, and anemia. As the disease progresses, blood or mucus in bowel movements, cramping, fever, skin rashes, mouth sores, joint pain, red and painful eyes, liver involvement, and loss of nutrients may occur.

Other bowel diseases that may mimic the same symptoms as ulcerative colitis (which only affects the large intestines) include Crohn's disease, which affects other places in the digestive tract, or irritable bowel syndrome, which is a problem with the muscles in the bowels - not inflammation.

Diagnosis of ulcerative colitis is made after testing and exams. It is important to consult your doctor if you think you might have this condition. Blood tests will be done to determine if you are anemic or have an infection, and your stool will be checked for signs of infection. Imaging tests and a colonoscopy or sigmoidoscopy will be performed to visualize the colon, and you will most likely be referred to a gastroenterologist (digestive system specialist).

There is no cure for ulcerative colitis, but treatments can calm the inflammation. Treatment depends on the severity of the disease and the person. Usually, the disease is managed by diet and medications with the goal being remission of the disease. When medications are not working, or complications such as bleeding and abnormal growths are present, surgery may be needed. About 30% of people with ulcerative colitis need surgery during their lifetime, according to researchers, with about 20% of children needing surgery.

If you have ulcerative colitis, nutrition is important to avoid flare-ups. Trigger foods may be different from person to person, so it is important to keep track of foods that upset your stomach after eating. Foods and drinks high in sugar or fat, carbonated beverages, high-fiber foods, alcohol, salt, and dairy products may be problematic. No one diet works best for ulcerative colitis, and supplemental nutrition and vitamins may be necessary. For children, it is important to ensure they are getting the nutrients they need to grow and maintain health. It is important to consult with a healthcare provider and dietician to develop a personalized diet.

For most people, ulcerative colitis is a chronic condition with periods of flare-ups and periods with no symptoms. Some people have very few flare-ups while others have many. That is why it is important for people with this disease to try and manage it with their prescribed treatment plan to avoid complications.
