6TH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

MUSINGS + MESSAGES

Amsgr. John Kasza, Moderator 🆪 frjohn@stol.church

Feb. 11 is the Feast of Our Lady of Lourdes and has also been designated World Day of the Sick and World Marriage Day. This year, it is also the sixth Sunday in Ordinary Time and the last Sunday before we begin Lent.

Today's readings talk about healing from leprosy. In the ancient world (and even until the early 20th century), leprosy was considered a highly contagious and incurable disease. Those affected by the disease were ostracized from their families and communities and were forced to live with others who were similarly affected. When Jesus heals the leper, he is restored to the community. When we are ill, we are often separated from the community. Healing or curing also restores and reinvigorates us.

Saint John Paul II established the World Day of the Sick to remind us of the value of those who are

Connecting Point

🙎 John Kovacik, OCIA Coordinator, St. Isidore 🖪 rcia@stisidore.church

How can I promote Christ instead of myself?

"Brothers and sisters... just as I try to please everyone in every way, not seeking my own benefit but that of the many, that they may be saved. Be imitators of me, as I am of Christ" (1 Cor. 10:31-11:1).

I remember years ago when I was promoted to my first managerial position. One of the first pieces of advice I received was to "get your team to work for you." I asked, "How do I do that?" I was told it was simple. Get to know your people, their needs, and where they need your support for coaching. Seemed simple enough. The goal, after all, is to get the people that report to you promoted.

I know that is a different type of promotion than we are discussing in our Connecting Point question today, but there are some valuable lessons from that experience. First and most importantly, you need to get to know one another to have a relationship. Second, you need a relationship built on trust that allows for open dialogue.

"I do will it. Be made clean" (Mk. 1:41).

This Scripture from the Gospel talks about an encounter that Jesus had with a leper. We need to remember that leprosy was not only considered a disease but a ritual impurity-almost like a symbol of sin! Here, Jesus takes away the sin and reconciles the leper's relationship with the community.

This is such a beautiful scene because it foreshadows Jesus' own passion when he becomes a leper, made impure by our sins, and dies on the cross. He reconciles us with the Father. There's that word-reconcile. In the Sacrament of Reconciliation, we receive the grace and "armor" we need to go out and spread the Good News. We know that the sins we commit distance ourselves from the Lord. Through the sacrament's strength, we can promote Christ to our brothers and sisters.

How can I promote Christ instead of myself? By turning away from sin and longing to have a close relationship with the Lord. Through Reconciliation and prayer, we grow in our faith. Living as a witness to the Lord is then apparent to those around us. Making personal invitations and being joyful missionary disciples helps to "promote" Christ and be living proofs of his Goodness.

Spotlight on Senior Card/Game Club

The Senior Card/Game group at St. Therese has been active for about 15 years. It all started with an invitation in the church bulletin for seniors to come and meet other parishioners for a fun afternoon. There was an overwhelming response, as Sunday can be a long day for those who are alone. We meet, play cards, and some even go to dinner afterward for more socializing. We took a break during the pandemic, but fortunately, we have reunited and are still going strong! We are inviting all parish seniors to join us for cards on the third Sunday of each month. Spread the word, and invite your friends and neighbors from other parishes; all seniors are welcome to join. The Sunday Card/Game group meets in the Social Hall on the third Sunday of each month. Stop by to play! For more information, call the St. Therese parish office at (586) 254-4433.

"Road to Emmaus" Summit Coming Soon

"Then the two recounted what had taken place on the way and how he was made known to them in the breaking of the bread." – Luke 24:35

The Disciples Unleashed Eucharistic Revival Committee is hosting a halfday summit on Saturday, April 13, from 2 PM to 8 PM, at St. Therese of Lisieux Parish.

The theme of the summit is "Road to Emmaus - Meeting Jesus in the Eucharist" and will feature two talks by Steve Ray, author of "Crossing the Tiber," creator of "Footprints of God" documentary series, popular radio personality, and international Catholic speaker.

The summit will be centered around 4:30 PM Mass and will include a delicious dinner following Mass.

Registration will be required. Look for more information soon in the bulletin and parish web site.

About Steve - Raised in a Fundamentalist Baptist family, Steve never set foot in a Catholic Church before 1994. After studying many books to convince their best friend and recent convert, that the early church was evangelical, Steve and Janet backed their way right into the Catholic Church. On Pentecost Sunday, 1994, they entered the Church at Christ the King Parish in Ann Arbor, Michigan. Since then, Steve's passion for the depth of truth found within the Catholic tradition has led him to walk away from his business and pursue what he really loves—writing, speaking, producing Catholic films, and leading pilgrimages to biblical lands.

suffering. While sickness alienates, it can also unite people in prayer and solidarity. Those who are healthy should remember those who are not, commend them to the mercy of God, and become agents of caring.

In much the same way, World Marriage Day reminds us of the ministry of marriage. Couples minister to each other. They mutually support and feed one another. They build one another up and challenge one another to be better. As the marriage vows state, couples are to love one another "in sickness and in health." I see this time and time again, especially when one spouse contracts a debilitating disease, such as cancer or dementia. The other steps up to support and care for the one who is suffering. The disease becomes a catalyst for increased love and affection, sometimes to the disbelief of others.

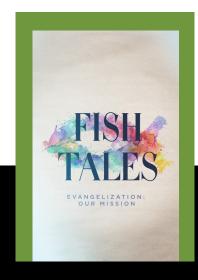

As we conclude Winter Ordinary Time this week, reflect on how you can be an agent of healing.

This Wednesday, Feb. 14, is both SS. Cyril and Methodius Day and St. Valentine's Day, as well as Ash Wednesday, a day of fasting and abstinence: no meat, three small meals (or one larger meal and two very small meals), and no snacking between meals. Also, the Fridays of Lent are meatless. All Catholics should abstain from meat, and those who are able (i.e., not impeded by a medical condition) should maintain the regimen of the fast.

Please join us on Ash Wednesday. We will have Masses with the distribution of ashes at 8:30 AM, 12 PM, 5 PM, and 7 PM. This year, I challenge you to invite a friend or family member who may have fallen away from the faith to experience Lent's beauty and how we celebrate it here at St. Therese.

On the Fridays of Lent, the Knights of Columbus will host their Fish Fry Dinners from 4 to 7 PM. We will also have Stations of the Cross at 7 PM.

Please see the bulletin and website for more Lenten activities in our Family of Parishes.

Move Out of Your Comfort Zone

Surely, many of you feel as I do: I love our church, enjoy being an integral part of it... participating in many activities that go on here, being actively involved in ministry, listening to the Word, seeing and passing on greetings to friends, on and on. However, it is important that we all remember that the primary purpose of our Catholic Faith is to Evangelize and pass it onto others.

We must keep in mind this quote from St. Francis; "We cannot keep ourselves shut up in parishes in our communities, when so many people are waiting for the Gospel. It's not enough simply to open the door and welcome, but we must go out through that door to seek and meet the people."

Lent will soon be upon us; let's make it our goal to go out of our comfort zone, meet the people and pass on our beautiful faith to them.

Walking the Path

Discipleship Formation | ♣ Peggy Casing, D.F. Director 4 peggyc@stol.church

This time of year, I seem to hear about several things: Sacraments, Church documents, and adult/child religious formation expectations. It is all of the "official," dare I say "legal" requirements, that folks often fret about. Adults often ask if something they read in a church bulletin or on the internet can be taken as official church teaching. Here, I'll take a few moments to discuss just a few of those documents that are officially official (haha). Yes, I know that this is one of those topics that could lead to a snooze-fest, but hold on as I hope to hit the high points.

Firstly, documents that serve as the guidelines for the governance and the manifestation of our faith communities are called "iuridic documents." The first that comes to mind is The Code of Canon Law. This listing of binding "laws" that govern the Church really are the backdrop within which all other policies, declarations, and more, must adhere. We must remember, however, that Rome issues documents, statements, laws, etcetera, that are of importance for the Universal Church, and yet oftentimes they leave certain aspects of an issue open for further comment or direction. When a rule or law is given space for local adaptation, it is at this point that the U.S Bishops can step in and rule on behalf of the bishops of our country. Yet, they too. can leave certain aspects up to the local bishops to determine on behalf of their own (arch)diocese. As I said, each of these levels within the Magisterium can, and do, issue their own documents. There is profound wisdom in this form of governance. While some individuals would like a "one rule for all" type of system, the Church, in her wisdom, has found that an educated, urban, Catholic has different expectations, customs, and needs than does a Catholic living in the outback of Australia. There are times when the uniformity of the Church is of importance, and other times when wisdom from someone who knows the local situation is invaluable, much like a good political structure.

There are other types of documents regarding the faith and morality that are issued to guide the faithful, as well. These aren't laws, per se, but they still form a core of guiding principles that the Church is supposed to adhere to. The Catechism of the Catholic Church is probably the best known, but to keep to our theme. I'll feature another type, due to its "official" nature. Conciliar documents fall into this category. These are the documents that are issued as a result of a council gathering, like the Council of Trent, or Vatican II. In descending order of importance, conciliar documents are: constitutions, decrees, declarations, and messages.

 Constitutions concern the Universal Church and deal with doctrine, discipline, or pastoral issues. They discuss those issues that are firmly held as mandates

- regarding the Church's stance on issues, and how certain matters are to be administered on behalf of the Church, basically, for now and forever.
- Decrees deal with some aspect of the Church's life and mission.
 They are disciplinary in character but also include doctrine and policy.
- Declarations deal with issues of relevance for the Church of today. The statements contained, within them, reveal the Church's stand on issues that are temporal in nature.
- Messages have no legislative function. They are exhortations addressed to specific groups at the beginning of the Council.

To conclude, the documents that I've already mentioned are just a few of those binding documents that regulate how parishes function, how Mass is offered, and on, and on. When someone wants to know the foundation behind almost any question or issue that could arise, I head in their direction. It is helpful to remember, though, that there are other truly enriching sources of information and inspiration that come from Catholic sources that don't fall under this type of official, binding, and/or juridical types of text. These types of documents could be seen as the window dressing to the structure of a building, or the dessert that follow the meat and potatoes of a meal. For some words about them, tune in next week.

New Year's Resolutions for a Healthy Life

Health Ministry | ♣ Marilyn Cito, Parish Nurse 4 marilync@stol.church

Even though it's February, and some may have already decided they couldn't keep up the momentum for their health-related New Year's resolutions, it's not too late to get back on track. We all intend to eat better and exercise more, but staying focused on our health goals is hard when it's cold and dreary outside. In the winter, when it gets dark early, and the weather is cold and icy, we tend to want to stay inside, eat comfort foods, and curl up with a good book or our favorite TV shows.

But even though you may have disbanded your New Year's resolution, rethink that decision and choose a "small" resolution that's easy to accomplish and will improve your health. Why not give one of these a try?

Eat more vegetables. Eating more vegetables will help fill you up and leave less room for junk food like chips, ice cream, and sweets. Vegetables will also help you get the vitamins, nutrients, and fiber you need to help you stay healthy and regular.

Get enough sleep. Go to bed at the same time each day and get at least 7-8 hours each night. Avoid using computers, phones, caffeinated drinks, and other things that may stimulate you before sleep.

Take care of your mental health.

Pray, meditate, exercise, eat well and stay hydrated, practice gratitude, focus on positivity, forgive others, stay connected with friends and family, avoid stressful social media, and find ways to relieve stress. Do things that you enjoy.

Cut down or eliminate alcohol.

Eliminating alcohol will lower your blood pressure, give you better skin, and help with memory, and healthy sleep habits.

Prioritize doctor visits. Stick to scheduled physicals and health screenings (mammograms, colonoscopies, prostate and skin screenings, and eye exams) to help catch illnesses early and keep medical conditions under control. If something hurts you, don't ignore it; have a healthcare provider check it out.
