TWELFTH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

MUSINGS + MESSAGES

👤 Msgr. Kasza, Moderator 📧 frjohn@stol.church

One of my dogs, Phoebe, has a terrible time with storms. She pants and becomes terrified. Nothing calms her down. Her mother, Lydia, on the other hand, has lived through a hurricane. She just sleeps through the storms. Nothing bothers her. How do you handle the storms in your life? Do they cause you anxiety, or are you able to sleep through them?

First, there will always be storms and trouble. We have a choice: we can let the storms master us, or we can master the storms. In other words, we can allow the storms to overwhelm and crush us, as some have done, or we can choose to fight them. While we may not have the power of Jesus to quell a storm with our voices, we do have the power to overcome its effects.

Second, the storms in our lives shape us. They help us build our character and make us better

► In what storm am I struggling to trust Jesus?

Life is often described as a series of storms, each varying in duration and intensity. Trusting Jesus amidst these storms can sometimes feel challenging. One common storm that many struggle with is uncertainty. Uncertainty manifests in several aspects of life: career changes, health issues, financial instability, or relationship turmoil. This storm is characterized by the anxiety and fear of the unknown. It's the feeling of standing at the edge of a cliff, unsure whether you'll find solid ground or a deep abyss below. In these moments, trusting Jesus can seem like an insurmountable task.

In this weekend's Gospel, we see the disciples facing a literal storm on the Sea of Galilee. They were terrified as the waves crashed over their boat, and despite Jesus being with them, their fear overshadowed their faith.

Jesus, however, calmed the storm with a simple command, reminding them—and us—that he is in control, even when the situation seems dire.

The storm of uncertainty challenges our trust in Jesus because it confronts our desire for control and predictability. We like to know what's coming next—to have a plan and a clear path. When that's stripped away, we're left vulnerable, facing the unknown. It's in this vulnerability that Jesus invites us to trust him more deeply. Trusting Jesus in the storm of uncertainty means surrendering our fears and anxieties to him. It means believing that he is in control and that his plans for us are good, even when we can't see the outcome. It involves daily, sometimes moment-by-moment, decisions to lean on his promises rather than our understanding.

The storm of uncertainty can be daunting, but it's also an opportunity for growth. As we learn to trust Jesus more fully, we find peace that exceeds our circumstances. We discover that, even in the darkest times, his presence is our anchor, and his love is our refuge.

people. God has given us the intelligence and strength to work through issues and experiences so that we may become stronger having gone through them.

Third, sometimes a storm is necessary to prepare for something new. Storms remove the old landscape to allow new growth. Storms uncover things that have long been buried so that people can uncover the riches of the past. While we think of storms as destructive, sometimes they can be instructive, as well.

This week, think of the storms you've weathered in the past. What did you learn from those experiences?

A Summer Read for Every Genre-Lover

So, you're heading to the beach or the cabin and you want a book to take along? In this special edition of Unleash the Gospel book recommendations, we've rounded up some classic "genre" books that will keep you riveted while also opening up new vistas of the Catholic imagination!

Sci-fi

Top Pick: C.S. Lewis' Cosmic Trilogy, Out of the Silent Planet, Perelandra, and That Hideous Strength

In this lesser-known series by the beloved author of The Lion, the Witch, and the Wardrobe, an unassuming philologist is whisked away on an interplanetary adventure with supernatural stakes. These fast-paced sci-fi gems meld vivid extraterrestrial sights and sounds with profound theological insights into God's endlessly creative and loving nature.

Honorable mention: Gene Wolfe's The Book of the New Sun

Spy

Top Pick: Tim Powers' Declare

If you've been looking for the perfect Cold-War-meets-Old-Testament-monsters spy thriller, look no further. Tip: in this and other Powers novels, check the dates against the liturgical calendar; the feast and fast days are often clues to the story!

Honorable mentions: G.K. Chesterton's The Man Who Was Thursday and Graham Greene's Our Man in Havana

Romance

Top Pick: Suzanne Wolfe's The Confessions of X

In this remarkable romance, Suzanne Wolfe pieces together the scant historical record to tell the story of X, the long-time lover of St. Augustine and mother of his son, Adeodatus. The Confessions of X is a touching tale of love—human and divine, a dramatic portrayal of how God gives and takes away and a moving meditation on the winding road faith calls us all to walk.

Honorable Mention: Katy Carl's debut novel As Earth Without Water

Time Travel

Top Pick: Eugene Vodolazkin's Laurus

When a young Russian physician leads his beloved into mortal sin, he dedicates the rest of his life to atonement—and ignites a fire of madness and miracles that burns from the Volga to Jerusalem, and into the 20th century's own tragedies and triumphs.

Honorable Mention: Tim Powers' The Anubis Gates

Psychological Thriller

Top Pick: Ron Hansen's Mariette in Ecstasy

Ron Hansen's religious thriller is impossible to put down and keeps its mysteries intact to the very end. Set in a convent in upstate New York in the early 20th century, the novel follows a charismatic young novice who appears to be experiencing the stigmata. As her visions escalate, the convent and the surrounding region reach a boiling pitch of jealousy, religious fervor, doubt and desperate longing for clarity—which God does not seem interested in giving.

Honorable Mentions: Susannah Clarke's Piranesi and Mikhail Bulgakov's The Master and Margarita

Murder Mysteries

Top Pick: Dorothy Sayers' The Nine Tailors

When an unknown man is found dead in a bell town in the flooded fenlands of England, no one can say how he died. But Lord Peter scents evil in the wind. This gripping mystery gives a chilling look at the unintended consequences of both sin and justice and will keep you guessing till the last page.

Honorable mention: G.K. Chesterton's Father Brown Mysteries

► Invitation to Discover Faith: Join Our OCIA Program

Family Ministry | 👤 Chris Piebiak, Director ✉ chrisp@stol.church

Are you looking to deepen your understanding of the Catholic faith? Do you have questions about God, Jesus, or the Church that you are longing to explore? Have you felt a calling to become part of the Catholic community? If so, we warmly invite you to join the Order of Christian Initiation of Adults (OCIA) at St. Therese of Lisieux.

OCIA is a faith journey designed for those considering joining the Catholic Church or wanting to learn more about it. This program is open to:

- Those who are not baptized
- Those who are baptized in another Christian tradition and wish to become Catholic
- Catholics who were baptized but did not receive further formation or sacraments

Through OCIA, you will have the opportunity to explore the teachings of the Church, engage in meaningful discussions, and grow spiritually in a supportive community. The program includes weekly sessions where we cover a variety of topics related to faith and practice, as well as opportunities for prayer and reflection.

If you are interested in joining OCIA or have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact Chris Piebiak at chrisp@stol.church or (586) 254-4433. We are here to support you every step of the way. We look forward to walking this faith journey with you and helping you discover the richness and depth of the Catholic faith.

Enjoying the Gift of the Beautiful Outdoors

👤 Evangelization Committee

Who doesn't love Michigan summers? From our lakes to our woodlands and gardens, there are countless reasons to love this beautiful state! So, what are some things each of us can do to keep our state beautiful and our environment clean?

- Composting is a great way to create a free source of high-quality soil. If you haven't composted before, there is plenty of information online to guide you through the process.

- Rather than collecting your grass cuttings, leave them on your lawn so that they become its nutrients and soil.
- Go natural! Many products that kill weeds and pests have harmful side effects on people, pets, and the honeybees that we need for plant propagation. Ask an expert at your local nursery to help you find natural products that don't harm us or the environment.

*Pope Francis reminds us that "The primary mission of the church is to evangelize."

The Search: Why Are We Here? What's Life All About? What Happens When We Die?

The Search is an innovative video series that tackles the key questions of every human heart. In seven beautifully filmed episodes, Chris Stefanick and experts from multiple fields of science, medicine, psychology, art, and religion examine our place in the larger story of existence.

Presence: The Mystery of the Eucharist

When was the last time you sat down to enjoy a meal with your family or close friends—not just to eat food in close proximity to each other, but to bask in each other's presence and grow in love for one another? For most of us, this doesn't happen at a typical meal. However, this is the kind of meal God wants to share with us. This is the kind of meal he has prepared for us and invites us to participate in through the Sacrament of the Eucharist.

Jesus' Summer Bucket List

My Child,

I'm so excited Summer time is here! I love to watch you play and have fun. Did you know I like summer time, too? I would really like to hang out with you and have some fun this summer. In fact, I have a bucket full of ideas for us to do. I call it my summer bucket list.

Come to Mass each week and I will have the priest reach into my bucket and announce what I would like to do with you that week! When you leave Mass today, pick up a picture of my summer bucket at the table in the gathering space. Starting next week, I will have stickers at the table. If you had the chance to complete one of my bucket list ideas, put the sticker on my summer bucket picture. I hope the bucket will be covered with stickers by the end of summer! I'm really looking forward to spending time with you this summer!

Love, Jesus

► How To Take Care of Yourself in a Health Emergency If You are Alone

Health Ministry | 👤 Marilyn Cito, Parish Nurse ✉ marilync@stol.church

According to the PEW Research Center, 27% of Americans 60 years and older live alone, so it's important to know what to do in case of a health emergency. One of the most common events that happens as we get older is falling; one in four older adults falls each year. If you fall and don't have symptoms of something more serious (like a stroke), take a minute to get your bearings. Don't stand up unless you are sure you can do so safely. If you are having trouble getting up, roll onto your side, push up to a sitting position, and get on your hands and knees. If you are able to crawl toward a piece of sturdy furniture, turn your body so your stronger leg is next to it. Place your hands on the furniture, bend the knee closest to it, put your foot on the floor, and push yourself up. Hopefully, if all else fails, you have a phone nearby to call family, friends, or 911. Purchasing an emergency button/watch might also be a good option.

If you are alone and something suddenly seems wrong with your vision, coordination, or speech, you could be experiencing a stroke. Symptoms of stroke can include facial drooping, arm weakness (of one or both arms), and slurred speech. If you are experiencing any of these symptoms, call 911 because time is essential! The sooner you get to the hospital, the better chance of a positive outcome.

Chest pain that lasts more than a few minutes or goes and comes back is another medical emergency. Symptoms can include an uncomfortable/dull pressure, squeezing sensation, nausea, lightheadedness, jaw, shoulder, back, chest, or neck pain, and pain that radiates down your left arm. Do not attempt to drive yourself to the hospital or have someone else drive you. Instead, call 911 and tell them your symptoms. Then, you can call your family to alert them. Chew or place one 325-milligram (or four 81-milligram) baby aspirin under your tongue to get the medicine into your bloodstream quickly—unless you have a contraindication to taking aspirin. Gather your ID, insurance cards, and a list of your medications if you are able to do so without exerting yourself. Unlock the front door and sit down in a comfortable chair near the entrance of your home while taking slow, deep breaths to keep you calm.

Burning yourself with a scalding liquid can also be an emergent situation. If you are able, submerge the burn in cold water. Do not use ice; it can cause more damage to the skin cells. Apply a burn gel like Alocane or Neosporin Burn Relief Ointment, which can help prevent infection. If the burn is extensive, blisters, and is on your hands or face, consider going to the emergency room. Stinging, blistering, burning, and discomfort on the day after the burn are not unusual. However, if pus or redness develops around the burn area, it might be a sign of an infection and should be treated by a healthcare provider.

Although this list of health emergencies is not comprehensive, these are some of the most common emergencies. It is also important to have an emergency plan in place with your family and friends. In addition, make sure you have an emergency contact; they know the location of important documents, your advance directive, and your healthcare wishes, if necessary.
