MUSINGS + MESSAGES

 Msgr. Kasza, Moderator ✉ frjohn@stol.church

After several weeks of reading from the Bread of Life discourse, this week we return to Mark's Gospel and it's a doozy. Jesus pulls no punches as he goes after those who focus on the wrong things. The scribes and Pharisees were more concerned about traditions and customs than they were about God's commandments. Another way of looking at this is: Are we more concerned about how something gets done or getting the job done?

I had a conversation with a student who was learning common core and she argued that it was vitally important that students learn different methods to get the answer rather than getting the answer correct. I explained to her that my father could add up all of the groceries in his head before the cashier did with the machine, yet in her system of common core he would have been marked down because he didn't show his work. I said which is more important the method or the answer? My mother taught me how to do dishes by ► What will I do with the words I hear?

Our world is busy, noisy, and full of constant communication from people, phones, computers, televisions, and radios—the list is endless. It is full of anger, jealousy, addiction, cruelty, and abuse—again, the list is endless. But our world is also beautiful, blessed, hopeful, creative, and compassionate—and yes, thank God, this list is endless, too.

As Christians, we must decipher all these words, experiences, and emotions to hear what God is asking of us. Unfortunately, this process is not always easy.

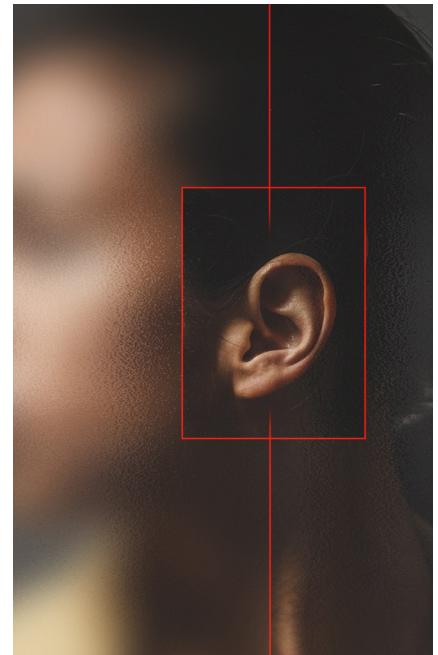

In today's Gospel, Jesus tells us, "From within people, from their hearts comes evil thoughts" (Mark 7:21). I have to admit, that passage rattled me because I have tried to live my life according to what my heart tells me; I know it is one of the ways God communicates with me.

But now, I realize that the evil one can communicate with me the same way—and that reality scares me.

Instead, we need to live our lives based on our faith and the words we hear in sacred Scriptures and prayer. We must also be aware of our thought processes and the words that continually bombard us in order to decipher which are worthy of retaining, sharing with others, and living a good Christian life by. The words we find to be rubbish, sinful, and useless are words we need to forget. They are not worth saying or sharing because they simply add to all the other ugly, evil noises that our world already deals with.

I apologize for not being able to answer this week's question in the way that I would have liked, but this question has made me cognizant of my own shortcomings. It has made me aware of things that I need to change in my life, bringing an adage that I learned as a child to the forefront of my mind: "If you don't have anything nice to say, don't say anything at all" (Charles Caleb Cotton).

hand. I found a more efficient way to do them. However, she wanted them done her way. I said which is more important—getting the dishes clean or doing them your way? After I broke a few dishes she saw that my way was better (yes, I was that kind of a child).

Too often, we get caught up the method rather than the why of an issue. Another way of putting it is, can we not see the forest for the trees? May our prayer this week be, "Lord help me to see the bigger picture and focus on what is truly important rather than dwelling on insignificant details."

Evangelization Action Words

👤 Evangelization Committee

Last week’s article mentioned how we would focus on words that help us to evangelize, even at a very young age. Of course, we must be role models for this to happen. The following list of words helps us think about how we can evangelize during our everyday experiences. Perhaps consider putting this list where it is visible to your family so all can be reminded to discuss the words and ideas included. Also, note what the first letters of the bolded words spell out when put together...

- Energize yourself to learn more about your faith.
- Volunteer your time.
- Make Acts of kindness a part of your everyday routine.
- Choose Not to be Negative.
- Give of yourself.
- Embrace your love for God.

- Love one another.
- Imagine how you can grow closer to God.
- Zoom into your faith and pass it on to others.
- Engage in meaningful activities.

Pope Francis reminds us that “The primary mission of the church is to evangelize.”

DISCIPLESHIP FORMATION

Classes Starting Soon

Children's Church starts next week! This is the program where children in Grades 1-5 are dismissed at the beginning of Mass, and travel to the Divine Mercy Room to hear the readings read and explained in a way that they can understand. Children's Church is held at the 9:45 and 11:45 Masses. We'd love to have your children join us. Even better, if you are interested, we can use some adult helpers. When you see her before or after Mass, let Susan know that you are willing to help. Our other programs, for Grades 1-9, are starting on September 9 and 10. Called "Grow" and "Mission," they are here to provide children with a foundation in the faith, especially the scriptures. If you have elementary and middle school aged children, make sure to sign them up right away! Registration is available online at: disciplesunleashed.org/formation.

Help is Still Needed

We are still in need of individuals who are willing to help in our grades 1-6, Tuesday evening, sessions, or in our Sunday programs.

Choose your level of commitment:

- Help with the Grow Program
Spend about two classes per month, 1.25 hours each (16 total classes) on Tuesday evenings, leading a learning experience for children in grades 1-6.
- Help with Little Lambs
Spend an hour and fifteen minutes, during Mass, once or twice per month, leading a class for children ages 3-5.
- Help with Children's Church
Or, spend only about one half of an hour, one week per month during a Sunday Mass, reading and discussing the First Reading and Gospel with children in grades 1-5.

In each of these cases, all of the planning and materials are provided for you. You'll have staff support, and training, if desired. We'll do our best to set you up for success!

Contact Susan or Julie in our Discipleship Formation Office for more information.

► What Our Eyes are Trying to Tell Us

Health Ministry | 👤 Marilyn Cito, Parish Nurse ✉ marilync@stol.church

Changes in eyes can signal vision problems, diabetes, stress, retinal detachment and other medical issues. The eyes are the only organ in the body where the blood vessels, retina, and optic nerve can be seen, which is a part of the central nervous system. That is why annual eye exams are important. In addition to checking eyes for traditional eye ailments like cataracts, glaucoma, and age-related macular degeneration, there are a number of medical conditions that signal warning signs that need to be checked out.

Hypertension (High Blood Pressure) can cause bleeding of blood vessels in the back of the eye or twisted or curved vessels. Untreated high blood pressure increases the risk of stroke and heart attack and can cause the development of glaucoma or macular degeneration.

Diabetes can be detected with an eye exam. 1 in 4 persons do not know they have diabetes. Diabetes can cause fluctuations in vision, bleeding or swelling of the retina which can eventually lead to diabetic retinopathy. Early diagnosis of diabetes can prevent this condition.

High cholesterol can be diagnosed when there is a white, gray, or bluish ring (fat deposits) around the edge of the cornea, which is normally clear. Soft flat growths around the eyelids can also be a sign of high cholesterol, which may raise your risk for glaucoma.

Thyroid disease can also be detected by looking at our eyes.

Hyperthyroidism (overactive thyroid) can speed up metabolism, cause an irregular heartbeat, and cause bulging eyes. This is called Graves' disease and is an autoimmune disorder where the thyroid produces more hormones than the body needs. Thyroid disease can also cause red, dry, or watery eyes.

Temporary vision changes or persistent vision loss can be a sign of an oncoming stroke, or one that has already occurred. The loss of central vision could be an indication of a cerebral stroke and needs to be evaluated immediately.

Although the loss of vision may be permanent, with timely assessment and intervention, a life threatening situation may be prevented.

Vitamin D Deficiency can cause redness, stinging, light sensitivity, and night blindness and is important for good eyesight, especially in low light conditions. Vitamin D deficiency is the number one cause of preventable childhood blindness in the world and is prevalent in poor countries where diets lack the necessary vitamins and nutrients.

Lyme disease may also be detected with an eye exam. In early stages, there might be floaters or conjunctivitis. In later stages, the eyes' optic nerve may be affected and result in vision loss.

Seasonal allergies are the most common reason for itchy eyes. If your eyes seem dry and you find yourself frequently rubbing your eyes, you may have allergies.

Infections are a common occurrence if you wear contact lenses. White spots on the cornea (the clear layer over the front of the eye) is an indication you might have an eye infection.

Twitching of eyes usually occurs when we are fatigued, not getting enough sleep, or stressed out. Puffy and red eyes might be a sign you are just tired. Too much screen time watching TV, or working on your computer may be causing your eyes to strain and tear up from being too dry.

Night blindness is common among older people. If it is hard for you to see in low light, you might need glasses or have cataracts, which is a natural part of aging.

"Floaters" are the little specks that move around your field of vision and are relatively common. If you notice an increase in the number of floaters in your range of vision, this could be a sign of a retinal tear or detachment and should be checked out by your doctor.

If the whites of your eyes are yellow (jaundice), this is a warning sign that there is too much bilirubin (breakdown of red blood cells in your blood) and the liver is unable to filter the cells. This could be due to a bad diet, an infection, something blocking bile ducts, or alcohol related liver disease.

Please join us on September 5, from 1:00 PM - 2:00 PM, for a presentation on Eye Conditions by Dr. Wahab, an optometrist. Dessert will be served.

We donate to many worthy causes, including Operation Layette, Friends of Foster Care, local nursing homes, and more. We gladly accept donations of fabric, yarn, and monetary gifts.

We're taking a short Summer break but will resume on Sep. 17. If you're interested in joining or have any questions, please contact Adrienne Hays at (586) 323-0543. We'd love to have you with us!
