PALM SUNDAY

CONNECTING POINT

👤 Chris Piebiak - Director of Family Ministry ✉️ chrisp@stol.church

Palm Sunday begins Holy Week with a striking contrast—Jesus is welcomed into Jerusalem with cheers and palm branches, but by the end of the week, those same crowds call for His crucifixion. The readings this coming weekend, especially the Passion narrative from Luke, invite us to pause and reflect on Jesus' humility through it all.

Though He is the Son of God, Jesus chooses to ride into the city on a donkey—not on a horse with soldiers accompanying Him, but in peace and simplicity. Later, as He is betrayed, denied, beaten, and crucified, He never lashes out. Instead, He prays for forgiveness for those who hurt Him. That is humility.

So, how can we live that out in our own small ways?

Humility doesn't mean thinking less of ourselves; it means thinking of ourselves less. It's choosing to listen before speaking. It's being willing to admit when we're wrong or when we don't have all the answers. It's noticing the needs of others—even in small ways, like letting someone go ahead in line or offering a smile when someone looks down.

In conversations, humility might look like asking questions instead of jumping to conclusions. At work or school, it might be sharing credit or offering help without needing recognition. At home, it might mean apologizing first or forgiving quickly. Jesus shows us that humility isn't weakness—it's strength under control. This Holy Week, as we walk with Him to the cross, let's ask ourselves: Where can I choose to be more humble? During my day, how can I make room for others and God?

Small acts of humility, repeated often, shape us and open our hearts to love more like Christ—gently, patiently, and with grace.

► St. Vincent de Paul Easter Food Request

We are very grateful to St. Therese of Lisieux's staff and parishioners for your generosity and support throughout 2024, which enabled us to assist our Neighbors in Need with food, rental and utility assistance, and other ongoing needs. Your generous contributions, especially during this past Thanksgiving and Christmas, were very heartwarming.

our pantries with in-demand items.

We are now 1.5 weeks away from our Easter Food Program, scheduled for Wednesday, Apr. 16. Again, we are asking for your help with ham, ham steak, or turkey breast (no full-size turkeys, please). We would also appreciate $25 Kroger or Meijer gift cards to supplement these meals. We are planning to assist approximately 35-40 families this year.

God Bless you for all you do,

The Easter Triduum, also known as the Sacred or Paschal Triduum, is a three-day period in the Catholic Church calendar. It marks the most significant events of Holy Week.

GROW Program Updates

Paint and Pray: Families from GROW, Living Faith, and Mission joined us on March 26 for a special evening of reflection and prayer focused on Jesus' time in the desert. Each family then worked together to create a personalized 8x10 painting, including scripture quotes representing this desert experience. The art pieces included rocks, candles, and special prayers that enhanced each family's Lenten display. Families were encouraged to use their Lenten creations for display each year during Lent, much like the use of Advent wreaths before Christmas.

► Your Health and the Easter Season

👤 Marilyn Cito 📧 marilync@stol.church

We often hear people talk about holiday-related stress, but it's usually associated with Christmas. In light of the upcoming Easter holiday, I thought it might be helpful to offer some hints to make this holiday season enjoyable!

Lent is an opportunity to look at your eating habits and commit to a healthier diet. Avoiding sweets and snacks and eating a balanced meal is a great routine to start. It is also an opportune time to eat less meat and more fish, as well as other proteins like beans, tofu, and lentils. If you are celebrating Easter Sunday with brunch or dinner, eat in moderation and don't overindulge. Although it's tempting to try everything on the menu, be mindful of what you eat. Sweets, candy, and desserts are certainly enticing, but overindulgence can take a serious toll on your health, especially if you have diabetes or are watching your weight. Remember to eat balanced meals with nutritional food and plenty of water to keep your body healthy. Do all things in moderation.

Although it can be challenging during the holiday weekend, try to sneak in some exercise or stretches. Whether it's hitting the gym or walking outside, just 30 minutes of exercise will help manage stress, boost energy and mood, and reduce anger, tension, and fatigue. If it's nice outside, consider taking a walk with family or friends, especially after a big meal. Spending time outdoors will improve your mental health and make you feel better than sitting on the couch after eating. Even if you prepared the festivities and food, grab a family member to take a nice walk outside with you. You will be surprised how refreshed and alert you feel.

Easter typically includes a lot of family time, but make sure you also take some "me time." Sleep in a little longer, take a nap, turn off technology, practice mindfulness, or pick up a book. Although you might be busy preparing Easter activities, relax and take care of your mental health.

We all love to be with our family and friends to celebrate the holidays, but don't spread yourself too thin! If you plan on cooking, consider brunch instead of a big meal. Or, if you really don't want to prepare food, consider going out to eat instead. There are plenty of places that serve Easter brunches and dinners. Don't take on too much during the holidays or commit to too many activities. Be honest with yourself if you don't feel "up" to a big celebration. And remember, if you choose to host an event, everything doesn't have to be "perfect!"

Importantly, remember the reason for the season. Let's all try to keep this in our minds and hearts! More often than not, this idea is lost in the midst of the holiday season. Easter weekend is the perfect time to engage in prayer and reflection. Join us at Mass to rejoice in the Easter celebration!

Happy Easter!
