MUSINGS + MESSAGES

Msgr. John Kasza, Moderator frjohn@stol.church

We are now in the midst of November. The days are getting colder, the aroma of pumpkin spice is giving way to peppermint and cinnamon, people are anticipating a myriad of holidays, and, through the readings, the Church invites us to focus on the end times.

Once again, we hear a parable about waiting for the Lord. In today's story, the Lord is characterized as a bridegroom who arrives later than expected. We represent the virgins in the story; some of us are preparing to meet the Lord and be ready whenever He comes, but others have not been preparing and will be caught off guard when Jesus finally returns.

We are invited to reflect upon our preparedness. Are we ready to meet the Lord? If not, why not? Have we built up a supply for ourselves—not

Connecting Point

Fr. John Bettin, Pastor - St. Isidore Church frjohn@stisidore.church

How can I be more intentional in preparing to meet Jesus?

Throughout our faith journeys in this life, we encounter Jesus in several ways many people don't even realize! It would benefit our spiritual growth to occasionally spend a few minutes asking ourselves, "How can I be more intentional in preparing to meet Jesus now in my daily life, as well as when I meet Him face-to-face when called home to heaven?"

Some of the ways and places we meet Jesus here and now are at Mass, especially in the Eucharist; in the other sacraments we receive; in Sacred Scripture when we read the bible; when we pray; or simply when we call to mind His presence with us. Additionally, one of the most beautiful ways to meet Jesus in this life is by seeing Him in the faces of all we meet. Indeed, when asked how she could visit, hug, and kiss people with diseases and inadequate hygiene, St. Mother Teresa of Calcutta simply answered that she did so because she met Jesus in the faces of others! Taking a cue from St. Mother Teresa, we have wonderful opportunities every single day to intentionally meet Jesus in everyone we encounter. When you do meet Him this way, prepare yourself to be filled with great love, joy, and peace!

Also, one of the most beautiful and spiritually edifying experiences we have as priests is to be with the faithful when they are very near death yet are at peace with going home to God. These faithful individuals are unshaken because they have spent time with Jesus in prayer, in the bible, and by welcoming visitors, family, and friends to be with them in their last days, hours, or even minutes. These are the ways in which these faithful deepen their faith, trust in our Lord, and prepare to meet Jesus before going to their eternal home.

of oil, but of spiritual blessings? Are we anticipating the Lord's arrival, or are we waiting until the last minute to get our spiritual affairs in order? Take time this week to assess where you are spiritually so you can be better prepared when Jesus arrives.

Meaningful Strength

"Nothing is so strong as gentleness, nothing so gentle as real strength.

St. Francis de Sales

This short quote has a great deal of meaning. It was written by St. Francis de Sales, a Roman Catholic bishop, a doctor of the Church, and a major figure of the Catholic Reformation. Canonized in 1665, he was known for his patience, gentleness, and spiritual writings.

Think of a time when you were (or plan to be) strong and gentle simultaneously.

AOD Updated Policy

The Archdiocese of Detroit has updated its background check policy for clergy, employees, and volunteers. This updated screening requirement strengthens our shared commitment to providing safe environments for children, vulnerable adults, and all those entrusted to our care.

The new policy, which went into effect on August 1, requires all clergy to be fingerprinted by October 2026 and all employees by mid-2027. Volunteers who may have one-on-one interactions with children or vulnerable adults—such as catechists, coaches, sacristans, lectors, ushers, parent drivers, those who bring communion to the homebound, and others in ministries directly involved with children and vulnerable adults—are required to be fingerprinted.

To learn more about this new policy, please visit aod.org/fingerprinting.

How to Tell Memory Lapses from Dementia

St. Therese and St. Isidore recently hosted a lecture on dementia. While preparing for the event, I was pleasantly surprised at the abundance of literature available for families of people with dementia. As I reviewed the literature, though, I couldn't help but wonder whether some of what I experience as I get older is just part of aging or a sign of something more serious.

You Misplace Things Sometimes vs. Often.

This happens to me sometimes, and it can be very frustrating. Perhaps you can't recall where you put something, and you have to spend time looking for it. Rest assured, this happens to everyone, so don't automatically think you have dementia. The best way to prevent this is to avoid multitasking and be more present. Memory lapses caused by stress, lack of sleep, or medication side effects can sometimes make you put your shoes in the wrong place or forget where you left your keys. However, if losing items is a common occurrence, especially if you struggle to find them later or suspect someone stole them, that may signal a deeper issue with your brain function.

You Can't Recall Some Words vs. Can't Follow Conversations.

This can also be frustrating. You are having a conversation while out with friends, but you can't think of the word you want to say. You may pause sometimes to search for a temporarily forgotten word. This makes me chuckle because I notice some of my girlfriends have the same issue when we are talking! With dementia, though, this happens with common words, names, and phrases you know well. You might mix up words, such as using "bed" for "table." It's hard to have conversations when you have gaps in word recall, which can also affect how you write, talk, and understand speech and writing.

You Forget Odd Details vs. Can't Complete Familiar Tasks.

My husband has always been the kind of person who can figure out how to fix or put something together. However, as he has gotten older, it has become harder for him to do things without reading instructions. This issue also includes things like forgetting to put the garbage out on a specific day or going to the grocery store without a list and not being able to recall all the items. This is called a memory lapse and is not a sign of dementia. Dementia can make it hard to remember daily tasks like taking your medications, showering, brushing your teeth, or keeping track of your money, which may mean you need extra help to stay safe and healthy.

Your Direction Gets Muddled vs. You Get Lost

I am sure many people have gotten "turned around," missed a street/exit, or had a hard time finding a new destination without GPS. This is not uncommon. This happens to most people one time or another, usually when we're not paying attention to where we are going. However, forgetting where you are when driving to your job of 30 years isn't. It may take you a while to realize you're lost when you have dementia. Understanding your GPS map, directions, or landmarks may become difficult, which increases your disorientation.

You Get Distracted vs. Lose Chunks of Time.

You've likely heard people say, "I'm not even sure what day it is" when they're overwhelmed and stressed. That's normal. With dementia, this "lost time" is increased since your cerebellum is damaged and you can't tell how much time is passing. You may think a family member has been missing for a long time when they've only been gone for 20 minutes, which might cause distress.

Hopefully, this information helps you determine whether what you're experiencing is part of aging or something more serious. If you feel you might be experiencing more serious symptoms, it is important to discuss them with your healthcare provider.

Neighbors in Need
COMMUNITY ASSISTANCE MINISTRY

Gobble! Gobble!

Jayne Thomas, Ministry Coordinator

Calling all turkeys! Our Neighbors in Need ministry is asking for Thanksgiving donations. We typically serve over 40 families and need your help! Please donate any of the following: a frozen whole turkey (no more than 15 lbs.), frozen turkey breast, or $25 Meijer or Kroger gift cards. Please bring your donations by Thursday, November 19. You may place your turkeys on the carts outside the office and give your gift cards to the office staff! Want to join our Neighbors in Need ministry? Leave your name and number with the Parish Office or come see us on November 20 as we distribute these items! Thank you for your generosity, prayers, and your giving spirit!

Love Your Neighbor as Yourself

Jayne Thomas, Ministry Coordinator

Are you looking for a powerful way to put your faith into action? This is an invitation—a call to joyfully serve and take action right here in our community! We are seeking passionate, empathetic volunteers to help make a difference by joining our Neighbors in Need ministry, which works directly with those who have raised their hands and asked for help.

Be a problem-solver by patiently and lovingly connecting with and listening to real people who have real needs. Match up our resources (food and financial assistance) with their needs, or share information about other forms of assistance available to them. The results are amazing! The ministry you thought would change the lives of others does just that—but it also changes yours! Please say "yes!" Worried about being qualified? No prior experience is required; your willingness to show up and care is truly the greatest qualification you can offer.

Come see us in action! Our next big event is the Thanksgiving food distribution on November 20 in the Social Hall.

Please leave your name and contact information with the Parish Office (586-254-4433), and a team member will call you to answer all of your questions. We look forward to meeting you.

Keep Christ in Christmas Poster Contest

Paul Candela, K of C Representative

K of C Council #11957 and the Discipleship Formation department are announcing the 2026 Keep Christ in Christmas Poster Contest, sponsored by the K of C, to promote Christmas and the season of Advent in their proper context.

Youth ages 5–14 can participate by creating an 11" x 17" poster centered on examples of the Holy Family and the Nativity of Our Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ. The contest begins on Monday, November 9, and ends on Tuesday, December 1. Entry forms will be available soon in the Parish Office and from the Discipleship Formation staff.

Judging will be based on slogan, artistic merit, and overall impact, and all entries will be displayed and returned in January. Winners from each age group will receive a $25 award from the K of C, and one entry may be made into a lawn sign for Keep Christ in Christmas promotions. For questions, contact the Discipleship Formation department (586-254-2944).

We pray for the sick
